

TOM PRICE

ARCHITECT, P. A

2001 YEAR IN REVIEW

Continued call for our residential design services in the year 2001 reflects the American faith that our families must be provided for, regardless. Our Romanesque Cottage (right) in Isleworth won the Aurora Award, while our Italianate Villa (above) also at Isleworth was featured in Period Homes Magazine.

Recently completed is a British West Indies home (left) at Lake Nona.

Under construction is a French Chateausque Cottage (above) at Isleworth, and a European Villa Estate (left) on Lake Down in Windermere.

Soon to be under construction is a French Country home (left) in Stuart, Florida, an oceanfront Mediterranean Villa (right) in Ponce Inlet, a Hamptons Shingle Cottage (below left) in Lake Nona, and a West Indies home (below) in Celebration.

And, at last... After thirty years of practice, we've designed our own home office building as a good neighbor to Orlando's Lake Cherokee Historic District, which we hope to have under construction this year! We have a lot to be thankful for and to look forward to.

View these and other newly completed homes on our expanded website at www.tompricearchitects.com.